like that of Bob Acres, out of his fingers' ends and before he has a chance to show our West Point generals how to conduct the war. What makes the delay? Greeley used to be very severe upon McClellan on account of delays, and why does he now delay his nigger brigade?

JEFF. DAVIS LAYING UP TREASURE IN FRANCE.wices from Paris tell us that Jeff. was invested about two hundred thousand dollars in the French funds. The Scriptures tell us that where one's treasure is there will his heart be also, and in this world the body generally accompanies the heart. This investent, then, is a notice of Jeff. Davis' intention to emigrate from the confederacy. The King of Hayti played the same game when about to take French leave of his unfaithful subjects. Jeff. Davis will send all the money he can to France, where it will be safe from the clutches of Floyd and Company, and will very soon make a moonlight flit of it, follow his money, and leave poor Beauregard and Johnston to wind up affairs as best they can. Let our blocksding fleet be on the watch, then; for McClellan will not find Davis at Richmond.

THE UNIVERSAL YANKEE NATION.-That chap out West who declared that he could jump higher, dive deeper, swim faster, come out drier, chew more tobacco and whip more wildcats than any other man in creation, is very often quoted as a ludicrous caricature of Broth. er Jonathan. It only needed that this boaster should accomplish these feats, however, and then the caricature would have become a perfeet likeness. Think of our inventions, our Improvements in arms, our vast armies, our suddealy improvised fleets, our revolutionary Monitors, our victories, and, to cap the climax the unprecedented advance of our government stocks yesterday, when the country is six hundred millions of dollars in debt, and then say if there is any country on the face of the earth which can compare, in war or peace, with

A VERY STRANGE NOTION .- The abolitionists have been vehemently insisting that General McClellan should take Yorktown immediately. Well, the General has gratified the abolitionists, and has captured not only Yorktown, but seventy-one rebel cannon and vast stores of arms and ammunition. Now, because it only cost eight lives, and not ten thousand, to accomplish this, the abolitionists declare that McClellan ought to be removed. These philosophers must have strange notions of the art of war, If McClellan had lost ten thousand good soldiers-brave men and excellent conservative voters-in capturing the rebel citadel, the abo. Iltionists would have been crazy with delight.

Captain Ward, of the First Delaware Volunteers, whom a mentioned in a letter a few days age as missing, has burned up. His body was found floating in Hampton Roads last evening by some boutmen, and dragged to the shore. It was identified by the clothing. The face was greatly disfigured, the issues having eaten off a portion thereof. When he left his samp on the 25th the the was known that he had over $200 in his peckets, of which only $28 were found. It is forced that he has been foully dealt with. Folly, or Life in Paris," which was produced at this house last night, professes to be "adapted" from the French. "Translated" would be the proper term; for, beyond one or two stray local interpretations, but very little effort has been made to bring the scenes which it is intended to delineate within the comprehension of an American audience. Revelations of the demi-monde glimpses of Behemian life, of which Dumas and Paul de Kock have given us the humorous, whilst this only gives us the repulsive features, and a plot with but little coherence and probability, do not constitute materials out of which much can be made. But whatever ingenuity taste and a profuse expenditure could do to give them value, it must be admitted that Miss Keene has done. The piece is superbly mounted, the costumes, though carsavalesque even in the serious scenes, are carefully studied, and the great number and variety of characters and insidents introduced impart a vitality to it which would be wanting did it depend on its literary secrets alone. Upon Miss Laura Recen and Mrs. Emma Waller the principal labor of the performance develves. The ene sustains alone different characters and the effort seven, in all of which they have to elasge costume. NEWS FROM THE SOUTH PACIFIC.

· PANAMA, April 27, 1862. The mail steamer Bogota, from the South, arrived at Panama on the night of the 22d inst. Her dates from Valparaise are to the 2d of April, Cobija to the 6th, Callao to the 14th and Guayaquil to the 17th. The Panama Railroad's steamer, the Guatemala, also arrived at her moorings, off the Island of Finencoo, on the 21st. The latest dates from Central America are as follows viz:—Guatemaia, April 9; Salvador, 13; Nicaragua, 15; Costa Rica, 17.

From Ecuador there is nothing of note to mention, except a report which has reached us to the effect that Sener Quijano, late Commissioner from the Columbian government to the State of Panama, and who went hence to Ecuador, has been named by the government of that republic Commissioner to the people of Pasto, who are yet in arms against Mosquera. It proposes that the province of Pasto shall submit to the existing government, and if it refuses Ecuador will take a hand in the game, and help Mosquera, if necessary, to keep it quiet. Pasto is one of the old provinces, where all the revolutions of this country take their death blow. It is inhabited by a hardy race, monthy Indians, who are rather behindhand in their ideas, and of course side with the bigoted conservatives. From its having only the province of Zuquerres between it and Ecuador, it is easy, and has been tried before by Ecuador, to render aid to one or the other of the contending parties in New Granada, which it proposes to do now.

Last evening the proprietors of Canterbury Hall and the American Music Hall, No. 444 Broadway, concluded to reopen their saloons as usual, and employ the "pretty waiter girls," and also open their bars for the sale of liquors. Accordingly, at the usual hour for business te commence, the girls were in attendance at both the above places, and proceeded to carry on the business as usual, the girls waiting upon the audience and supplying them with liquors and segars.

At Broadway Music Hall the proprietor had about eight girls in attendance, and the bar adjoining the saloon in full operation. Between nine and ten o'clock Captain Williamson, of the Fourteenth precinct, paid a visit to the hall, but, finding the bar, as he presumed, closed, and the girls only in attendance as geests, concluded that all was satisfactory, and left. However, about eleven o'clock he again dropped into the hall, and there, to his astonishment, found them selling liquors and the girls waiting upon the gentlemen present. He accordingly procured a posse of men, and at about a quarter past eleven o'clock made a descent upon the place, arresting the proprietor, the barkeeper and some of the girls, named Susan Cook, Mary Robertson, Sarah Stewart, Matlida Smith, Kate Siewart and Catharine A. Loosey. They were all convoyed to the Fourteenth wardstation house and locked up. The audience, on seeing the approach of the police, made a hasty retreat, and the hall was soon after closed for the night.

At Canterbury Hall Capt, Helm, with Sorgeants Wilson and Wright, paid the saloon a visit about ten o'clock, and found them selling liquors at the bar, and a large number of "pretty waiter girls" in attendance. He accordingly made a descent on the place, and the sudden appearance of the police created intense excitement among the guests, and a general rush was made by the girls to escape by the rear entrance. This was, however, prevented by the police, as Captain Helm had taken the precaution to have the rear of the building protty well guarded. The follow
